

Scenario: A researcher wishes to explore the dominant themes in the social media postings by Olympic athletes on their social media profiles. The profiles are public and typically have hundreds of thousands of followers. The platforms under scrutiny include Twitter and Facebook. Can the researcher consider these postings to be public, and is it ethical to publish their data verbatim?

Provide your response in the text-box provided within the slide.